

Hypertension: State of the Art and Future Directions

Kausik Umanath, MD, MS, FASN

Guest Editor

Contents

Vol 26, No 2, March 2019

Editorial

Dr. Conn Lives on: Insights Into Screening and Genetics of Primary Aldosteronism

Debbie L. Stein and Jerry Yee

81

Guest Editorial

Hypertension: A Common but Complex Condition

Kausik Umanath

85

Articles

Assessment of Blood Pressure: Techniques and Implications From Clinical Trials

Dia R. Waguespack and Jamie P. Dwyer

87

Ambulatory Blood Pressure Monitoring: Profiles in Chronic Kidney Disease Patients and Utility in Management

Nabeel Aslam, Samardha Missick, and William Haley

92

Resistant Hypertension: Diagnosis and Management

Nagalakshmi Nagarajan and Diana Jalal

99

How Low Do We Go (in the Post-SPRINT Era)?

Anna Burgner and Julia B. Lewis

110

Treating Hypertension Using Renal Artery Denervation: Problems and Progress

Raymond R. Townsend

117

Continued

Contents, Continued

Inflammation, Immunity, and Oxidative Stress in Hypertension—Partners in Crime? Ian R. Barrows, Ali Ramezani, and Dominic S. Raj	122
The Impact of APOL1 on Chronic Kidney Disease and Hypertension Todd W. Robinson and Barry I. Freedman	131
Hypertension and Pregnancy: Management and Future Risks Snigdha Reddy and Belinda Jim	137
Hypertension in Children and Adolescents Joshua A. Samuels, Ana S. Zavala, Jennifer M. Kinney, and Cynthia S. Bell	146
Abstracts
National Kidney Foundation 2019 Spring Clinical Meeting Abstracts May 8-12, 2019	151

Cover Image: Hypertension is a complex issue in both its pathogenesis and its optimal management.

Image Credit: Kausik Umanath, MD, MS, FASN.